

Nurse Readiness
Training for Patient
Emergencies

“I need more experience with emergencies on the floor. Practicing emergency situations will increase my confidence and skills. Most importantly I believe it will ensure the best outcomes for my patients”.

New Graduate RN

“During a recent code I felt more confident in what I was doing after the course. My co-workers even noticed and they even told my manager.”

Nurse in January 2006 Class

Simulation allows actions and observations to be as true-to-life as they could be in a real emergency situation.

Nurse Readiness
Training for Patient Emergencies
2010 Course Offerings

Simulation Benefits:

Simulation allows for repeated practice of routine procedures, rare conditions and life-threatening emergencies in a real-time environment.

The human patient simulator allows the nurse to practice all skills without the risk of harming a real patient. They can practice to perfection!

Vital signs can be assessed, IV lines and NG tubes inserted, EKGs interpreted, defibrillation practiced, and emergency medications administered and results evaluated.

Health care professionals have the opportunity to manage a patient in real time and see the results of their treatment.

The computer system allows the instructor to increase or decrease event severity and duration, overlay scenarios or interrupt the event. The dynamic scenarios allow students to respond as they would in the course of daily care .

~These unique training opportunities reinforce team-building, communication and critical thinking skills that are required in critical situations.~

Target Audience

Non-critical care nurses, new nurse graduates, nurses returning to the field, not ACLS trained.

Program Objectives

At the conclusion of the program the participants will be able to:

- Demonstrate assessment of emergent patients.
- Demonstrate proper emergency airway management skills.
- Describe rationale for medications utilized in a cardiac arrest and demonstrate medication intervention
- Describe the use of SBAR communication/charting and demonstrate communication procedures with the emergency team.
